

Figure 2.8 Distribution of Market Share for East Coast Ports

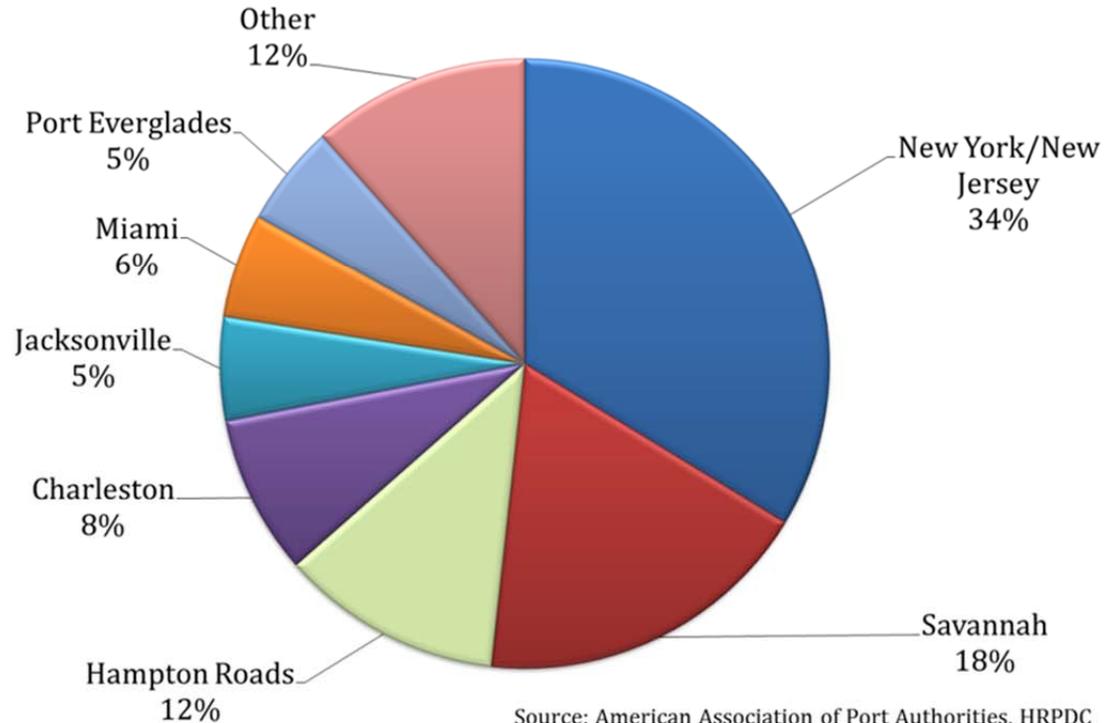

Why is it important?

The Port of Hampton Roads is a vital part of the region's economic engine. There is constant competition for port traffic on the east coast. Figure 2.8 identifies the major east coast ports and their market share.

How are we doing?

11.8% of the total east coast container traffic flowed through the Hampton Roads region last year, making it the third largest container port on the Atlantic.

Percent of Total TEU Traffic for All U.S. East Coast Ports (2009)

Source: American Association of Port Authorities, HRPDC